

The airways are public and should not be used for partisan politics under the guise of "news", particularly preceding an election. Sinclair's misuse of their license is a prime example of the problems caused by consolidation of the media.